

Terms of Use Overview

Clear guidelines on what's not allowed. Some common-sense limitations, such as:

- The copyright or intellectual property rights of the Resources remain with the original owners.
- Reselling or redistributing the Resources is prohibited.
- Resources cannot form the foundation for commercial products.
- Terminating your subscription means you forfeit the right to use Teach Simple's Resources.

Teach Simple License Agreement Details:

1. Subscribers of Teach Simple are granted a non-exclusive, worldwide, revocable license for each downloaded Resource, meant for one single user. An active subscription is mandatory for Resource usage.
2. The license starts upon downloading and lasts as long as your subscription is active.
3. Resources can be used educationally, encompassing classrooms, online classes, assignments, and more.
4. Only the original purchaser can use the Resource; sharing or transferring is forbidden.
5. Subscribers can access the Teach Simple library and download Resources on two computers simultaneously per subscription seat.
6. Redistribution of Resources in any form, even if modified or free, is prohibited.
7. Resources cannot be used in applications allowing user-specific product customization.
8. Merchandising with Resources as the primary value is not allowed.
9. Users shouldn't enable end-users to separately use a Resource from its end product.
10. Trademark claims over a Resource within an End Product are prohibited.
11. Some Resources may have third-party components with different license terms.
12. Teach Simple isn't liable for Resource accuracy or third-party components within them.
13. Resources should be used lawfully and not with offensive or discriminatory content.
14. Digital representations of real products or intellectual properties haven't been released; user discretion is needed for clearances.
15. This license works alongside the User Terms of Service for Teach Simple and overrules it in case of inconsistencies.
16. License breaches can lead to termination, requiring cessation of the Resource's use.
17. Ownership of each Resource remains with the original owner; subscribers cannot claim ownership.
